Length Measurement Guide

Dresses: dress lengths are taken from the bottom of the Clavicle hollow at the front of the neck, to the bottom hem of the dress.

Hollow to hem for size 8 is 58 ½"

For sizes 2-6, decrease ¼" per size

For sizes 10-14, increases ¼" per size

For sizes 16-24, finished length is 59 ½"

Extra length = 5"

How to select your size

If a customer's measurements fall between two sizes, consider the largest measurement first, then determine which measurement would be easier to alter. You should consider the type of fabric and the style of the garment when making a final decision. Velvet is a thicker fabric than crepe or satin, and doesn't allow for the same flexibility and movement. Sheer fabrics have no seam allowances for easement.

We recommend that your measurements be taken by a professional. Always measure over undergarments, and do not give bra or jean size. If you have a large cup size or broad back, the size of the garment may have to be adjusted accordingly. All dresses are made in a standard size. Alterations may be necessary.

*When ordering a dress for maternity, the mom-to-be should discuss her sizing with a retailer.
